

Title: Earth

Author: Sapana

The Earth is our home and it is the only planet where life exist. It provide us air, water and food to live. Without the Earth, no living things can survive. Many people do not care about the Earth and they keep pollute the enviroment every day.

The Earth is made of land and water. Most part of the Earth are covered with water and only small part is land. On the land, we grows crops and build houses. The Earth also have many trees, rivers, mountains and animals which makes it very beautifull.

Now a days, the Earth is facing many problems like global warming, deforastation and pollution. Because of these problems, the Earth is becoming unhealthy. If we do not protect the Earth now, our future will be in danger.

In conclusion, the Earth is very important for all living beings and we must take care of it. Every person should plant more trees, save water and stop throwing garbage anywhere to keep the Earth clean and safe.
