Future education will be very different from today education. In the future, students will not only study in classroom but also learn from online and digital devices. Many schools will use smart board, computer and artificial intelligence to teach students in a better way.

In future, books may be replaced by tablets and laptops. Students will be able to attend class from their home also. This will save time and energy. But some students may become lazy and not focus properly in studies. Teachers role will also change and they will act like a guide more than a teacher.
